CONFER OVER BUILDING HUGE STORM DRAIN!

TERRIFIC WAVE SWEEPS OVER THOUSANDS

Isle of Port Alexander Off West Africa Destroyed, Report of Sailors

LONDON, Jan. 27.—The Portuguese government has received confirmation of the engulfing of the island of Port Alexander by the sea, according to a dispatch received by The Evening News today.

Passing ships brought first news that the island had been swallowed, receiving their accounts from sailors who gibbered with fright as they related their escape from the waves.

It was estimated that between 5000 and 10,000 persons lost their lives.

Wreckage and scores of bodies eddying in the tides near the site of Port Alexander were all that remained today of the island swallowed by the sea. The disaster visiting the little Portuguese island off West Africa remained for the most part a mystery.

Many White Residents

It was not learned whether any foreign ships were in port when the island disappeared beneath the ocean. The majority of the island's inhabitants were white, but as no accurate account of its population was available the number of victims was not determined.

The few sailors who escaped told of a huge wave which seemed to rise and sweep over the island. Vessels which escaped the wave stood by to pick up what survivors remained.

The Evening News says the island was large enough to maintain a population of 15,000.

May Be Earthquake

The Portuguese legation lacked definite information on the catastrophe, but explained that the city of Pinda, of which the island was the port, lies on the main land and is the residential section of both the city and its port.

An earthquake was believed responsible. Although the disaster was reported Sunday, it may be days, even weeks, before definite information is received, probably from ships whose courses took them near the scene of the disaster.

Philippines Savages In War on Constabulary

MANILA, Jan. 27.—The voodoo rattle of the Moro drum echoed weirdly in the primeval jungle of Lanao province, Mindanao island, yesterday when a fierce battle took place between rebellious Moros and a detachment of Philippine constabularymen, according to reports here today from Mindanao, southernmost island of the main Philippine archipelago. Eight Moros, including the tribal leader, Pagum Pagum, were killed, according to reports.

Broken Tooth Only Damage In Long Fall

TOKIO, Jan. 27.—Officials of the Japanese aviation corps at Kasumigaura have been experimenting with "acro-physiology." To determine the effects of a fall through space, they took a small monkey up 400 feet in an airplane and heaved him overboard. Although he dropped to earth like a plummet, the only apparent injury the monkey sustained was a broken tooth.

Later the hapless monkey was dissected to determine the internal effects of the fall.

COOLIDGE HAS FARM POLICY BREAKFAST

President Entertains Senate And House Agricultural Committee Members

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Preparatory to formal submission to Congress of the legislative recommendations of the agricultural fact-finding commission, scheduled for tomorrow, President Coolidge had breakfast guests this morning, the leading members of the House and Senate agricultural committees. He discussed with them informally contemplated farm aid at this session.

Methods of marketing was the major topic at the breakfast conference, that subject being the feature of the agricultural committee's report.

Senator Curtis and Representative Longworth, the respective floor leaders, said it was their belief, following the breakfast, that some of the legislation asked by the president probably could be passed at this session. Both were agreed that it was doubtful whether any measure upon which there was any material difference of opinion could be enacted before March 4.

Others at the White House, in addition to the floor leaders, included Secretary of Agriculture Gore, Senator McNary, Republican of Oregon, and Representative Haugen, Republican, Iowa.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—A quarrel with her husband today caused Mrs. Anna Stewart to attempt suicide by swallowing poison, according to the police. A reconciliation between the woman and her husband followed, it was reported.

BOARD NAMED TO ASSESS PROPERTY

Council Names Members to Co-operate With L. A. Auto Show Permit

The City Council this morning officially named the assessment board to co-operate with the Los Angeles county assessor in setting 1924-25 valuations on Glendale property. Planned originally to comprise twenty members, the action of the council reduced membership in this board to thirteen, as follows:

Chamber of Commerce, Herman Nelson and R. M. Brown; Kiwanis club, James F. McBryde and W. L. Truitt; Rotary club, J. I. Wermette and V. M. Hollister; Exchange club, W. C. Waring and William McMillan; Realty board, William McMillan and T. H. Menk; Lions' club, J. R. Grey and E. S. Beggs; Optimist club, Peter Hanson and L. E. Olson.

Each of these seven clubs appointed two members but, inasmuch as Mr. McMillan's name appears as a representative of two clubs, the total membership of the assessment board is thirteen. The members of the City Council will be ex-officio members of this board. It was brought out this morning, V. M. Hollister has been named chairman of the board, James F. McBryde, secretary, and Herman Nelson, treasurer. The board will function on or before the first Monday in March, when the county assessor starts his work.

Auto Show Permit

The council granted the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association a permit to conduct its first automobile show in a tent at the southeast corner of Brand boulevard and Doran street, from March 7 to 14, inclusive, and officially endorsed the show.

The city attorney was instructed to draft an amendment to the parking ordinance, placing additional safety zones at important crossings. Contract for improvement of portions of Bruce avenue, Glenwood road and Eighth street was awarded to Frank R. Mosher.

A resolution was adopted conveying an easement from the Pacific Electric to the city for high-way purposes on Fourth street. An ordinance was offered establishing a commercial district at California avenue and Sycamore Canyon road. Hearing on petition to substitute proceedings on Lake street was postponed one week.

BOYS SACRIFICE TO BOOST RADIO FUND

Two Other Lads Point Way to Grown Folk In Order That Fire Department May Be Provided With Complete Set

Hundreds of years ago it was said, "A little child shall lead them." That great phrase, coined in the early days of the world, is proving just as effective today as it was in ancient times, and during the ages that have passed.

Arthur Thompson, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle W. Thompson, of 332 West Magnolia avenue, believes in making other people happy. Today Arthur sent his donation of $1 to the fund being raised by The Glendale Evening News to purchase radio receiving sets for the employees of the Glendale fire department.

No one but a boy of 4 years knows the pleasures that can be bought with a dollar bill. Candy, movie shows, toys, soda pop and everything else dear to the heart of a youngster, but Arthur puts aside all these in his desire to help make long hours of dreary waiting more bright for the fire fighters of Glendale.

Arthur is a friend of the firemen, and when he grows up he is going to be a "fire laddie," he says. The donation was handed by Arthur to a member of the Glendale fire department who lives near the Thompson residence.

Messenger Helps

Another human interest story is written on today's subscription list. Robert Price, a messenger boy for the Western Union, who earns his living by delivering and collecting messages and running errands, walked into the office of The Glendale Evening News at 123 South Brand boulevard today to "do his bit" for the firemen.

Robert contributed 50 cents to the fund, half a dollar taken from his meager wages, in order that someone might be happy. He knows that firemen, like messenger boys, are called upon to respond to duty's call in all kinds of weather, and he knows the hardship of waiting around the office for something to do. Therefore, he wanted to help.

ICE CREAM FACTORY TO OPEN IN GLENDALE

New Plant is Located at Wilson Avenue and Concord Street; Distributing Center for Nearby Cities

Formal opening of the new Christopher ice cream factory in Glendale will take place Thursday afternoon, according to an announcement today by S. C. Hookstratten, general manager. L. J. Christopher, president of the big ice cream concern, will be in Glendale for the event, and will meet the Glendale public during the informal welcome from 1 o'clock in the afternoon until 8 at night.

The new Glendale plant, located at Wilson avenue and Concord street, is the fifth to be established by the Christopher Ice Cream Co. It will be the distributing point for Glendale, Pasadena, Eagle Rock, Burbank and all points in the San Fernando valley. Christopher ice cream shipped to Owensmouth, Ventura, Oxnard and Santa Barbara will come from the Glendale factory also.

The new plant is strictly modern in every detail. It covers floor space 50x175 feet, the storage room alone having facilities for 6000 gallons of cream. A fleet of eight large motor trucks will operate out of Glendale in the future, delivering the hundreds of gallons of cream manufactured here. The plant will employ twenty-five workmen at the opening.

SET NEW DATE FOR VERDICT ON BONDS

Technical Error In Legal Proceedings; Election Day Is Now February 17

The $2,400,000 school bond election date, previously announced as February 10, was rescinded last night by the Glendale Union High school Board of Trustees and the Glendale city Board of Education, at special meetings, and resolutions were adopted setting the new date as February 17. This action was taken because of a technical error in the legal proceedings, discovered by the office of the Los Angeles county counsel.

The meeting of the high school board was held at the Broadway high school, President Albert D. Pearce presiding. The meeting of the elementary board was held in their offices at 107 1/2 South Brand boulevard, Mrs. A. A. Barton, president, presiding.

Discuss Campaign

These meetings were followed by a meeting of the School Bond Campaign committee, held in the Board of Education offices and attended by the Glendale Union High school Board of Trustees and by the Glendale city Board of Education. V. M. Hollister, chairman of the committee, presided.

A statement of elementary school needs, totaling the allotment of $1,200,000 of the proposed bond issue, was read by

NOMINATIONS BY PEOPLE CONTINUE

Glendalians Express Choice Through Blank Appearing Daily In The News

Glendalians continue to express their choice for councilman candidates through the columns of The Glendale Evening News. The nomination editor is swamped daily with new names, as well as a multitude of votes for those who have already been nominated.

The success of the entire undertaking lies in the fact that the residents of Glendale welcome the opportunity to express their voice in the naming of candidates for the five city council positions, which makes the issue entirely non-partisan, as it should be in accordance with the state election laws.

The names of three candidates nominated by the people were withdrawn from today's list. They are D. Ripley Jackson, Glendale's singing postmaster; David Francy, 420 West California street, and A. Fenton, 1231 East California street. Postmaster Jackson, in announcing his withdrawal, sent the following letter to A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Glendale Evening News:

Regulations Forbid
"Having noticed that my name has been included in the councilmanic timber list, I wish to say that I appreciate the confidence and that some of my friends may have in me but regret to advise that, owing to my commission under the United States government, I am prohibited from accepting any local political position, either by appointment or election, and would, therefore, request that my name be withdrawn from the list of possible candidates."

A number of readers of The Glendale Evening News have nominated C. C. Cooper for councilman. However, Mr. Cooper informs this newspaper that he

CITY OUTLINES PROVISIONS OF PROJECT TO COUNTY

Glendale Tells What It Is Willing to Do to Get Relief From Waters

The City Council will build a covered drain, to cost about $42,000, with the city paying about $7000 of this amount, from the south end of Sycamore Canyon road to the southerly city limits, provided:

1—That the Los Angeles county Board of Supervisors furnishes the material.

2—That the supervisors build a tunnel to carry flood waters from Sycamore canyon into the Verdugo wash.

3—That the property owners in the path of the proposed drain give the necessary easements and in other ways assist in furthering the project.

This action was taken in the form of a resolution introduced by Councilman S. A. Davis and adopted by unanimous vote of the council, all members being present. It followed a dinner meeting last night at the Oakmont Country club, when city officials were present with Engineer McMillan of the Los Angeles county flood control board, as the guests of the flood control committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce.

Attend Conference

Councilmen S. A. Davis and H. G. MacBain were present at this meeting, which was presided over by P. J. Hayselden, chairman of the committee. There were present also Virgil B. Stone, city manager; Ray L. Morrow, city attorney; John F. Johansen, city engineer, and the following members of the flood control committee, under Chairman Hayselden, were present: Arthur Campbell, F. P. Newport, J. H. Randall, J. C. Sherer, M. Walters, C. B. Boynton and Captain Wattles.

The resolution adopted this morning by the City Council, and which Councilman Davis declares "knocks the props out from under the legal action brought by certain property owners against the Sycamore Canyon road assessment, follows:

"WHEREAS, the following is endorsed by the flood control committee of the Chamber of Commerce and citizens of the city of Glendale:

"THEREFORE, Be it resolved by the council of the city of Glendale: That it is agreeable to entering into an agreement with the

HIGHWAY'S GREATEST ASSET

California, in the number of automobiles registered, is only a few machines behind New York, and it is very likely that in the year 1925 we will lead all other states in the union in this regard. California is a land of wonderful scenery, delightful climate and magnificent distances, and the automobile has been one of the chief causes contributing to our development.

All of us but the very young can remember when the automobile was a luxury, how the cry of extravagance was heard when salaried men and laborers began to purchase cars. But now the automobile is an indispensable factor in business and has added tremendously to the earning power of the nation.

Not only has the automobile been the direct means of giving employment to millions of people, but it has been the agency that has transported the worker quickly and easily to and from his job, and it has kept the people more fit for work by promoting and encouraging the outdoor life.

This being true, California's greatest asset is her splendid highways. We should not be niggardly when it comes to providing the wherewithal to maintain and expand our highway system.

There is considerable opposition to the proposal to increase the present 2-cents a gallon tax on gasoline, but the San Francisco Chronicle presents good argument for such a step.

"It is admitted," says the Chronicle, "it would be futile to submit a new bond issue to the people, so that means of raising money is practically eliminated from the discussion. There remain the alternatives of adding a cent to the gasoline tax or revising the auto license fees upward. The only equitable means of creating additional funds is to increase the gas tax to 3 cents. This would resolve itself down to a simple method of paying as we go and strictly on a basis of how far we go. The operator of a truck or a passenger coach, or the owner of a car who uses it continuously on the highways, would by this plan pay more in proportion than the man who uses the roads to give his family a week-end outing. That this is a fair and just division of the tax there can be no dispute. It calls upon those who derive the largest returns on the investment to pay according to the benefits they receive."

"Likewise it is an established fact that it is the heaviest cars that cause the greatest wear and tear on the highways. They consume more gasoline in a given distance than the lighter machines."

"The 2-cent gas tax which has been in effect for more than a year has worked no hardship. It has not been noticeable to a single automobile driver in the state. It has not decreased the sale of gasoline nor the operation of cars. We venture that it has not induced a single autoist to curtail his mileage on a business or pleasure trip. Now what will an additional cent on a gallon of gasoline amount to? The records show that the car of moderate price and weight is by long odds in the majority in California. On an average they can travel twenty miles on a gallon of gasoline. It is the usual thing for the autoist to drive up to a gasoline station and order five gallons put in his tank. Under the proposed 3-cent tax he would pay 5 cents more for his gasoline than he does now—5 cents additional for operating his car 100 miles. Of course there are car owners who will pay more, but they are not so numerous as this 'little fellow.'"

WE ARE ALL ALIKE

Those who come from foreign shores to visit us on one errand or another never hesitate to tell us of our deficiencies as a people and as a country as they depart. A charming European, just the other day, when about to leave us, declared that she found it a matter for grave concern that our women all look alike, they are becoming standardized. She couldn't tell the shop girls from the society women.

Another "thoughtful student" from London spent five months visiting our colleges, and though he found some good things to say of them, he summed up as follows:

"Although one meets students who obviously show promise of becoming great engineers and so forth, one rarely meets a student who seems destined to become a Darwin, a Beethoven, a Shelley. One of the main reasons why the American University system is not going the right way to produce men of genius in art and philosophy, pure science and literature, is because diversity of character is not encouraged but suppressed; for genius is the flower of exceptional diversity. . . . The tyranny of categories is pushed to an extreme point and has a very important effect in reducing the individual to a mere member of a category, and robbing him of his individuality to what I consider a dangerous extent."

The complaint of the visitor that she could not tell our shop girls from our society women would seem "nothing to worry about," as far as we are concerned; in fact, it should be a matter for congratulation.

But there is truth in the charge so often made that we are becoming standardized. Go into an American home and you will find the same kind of furniture as in every other American home of equal income. Look over the average American newspaper and you'll find it exactly like every other newspaper published in a city of the same size. Not only our women but our men look alike in the way they dress. "Butt into" any crowd and you will find the topics of conversation are the same.

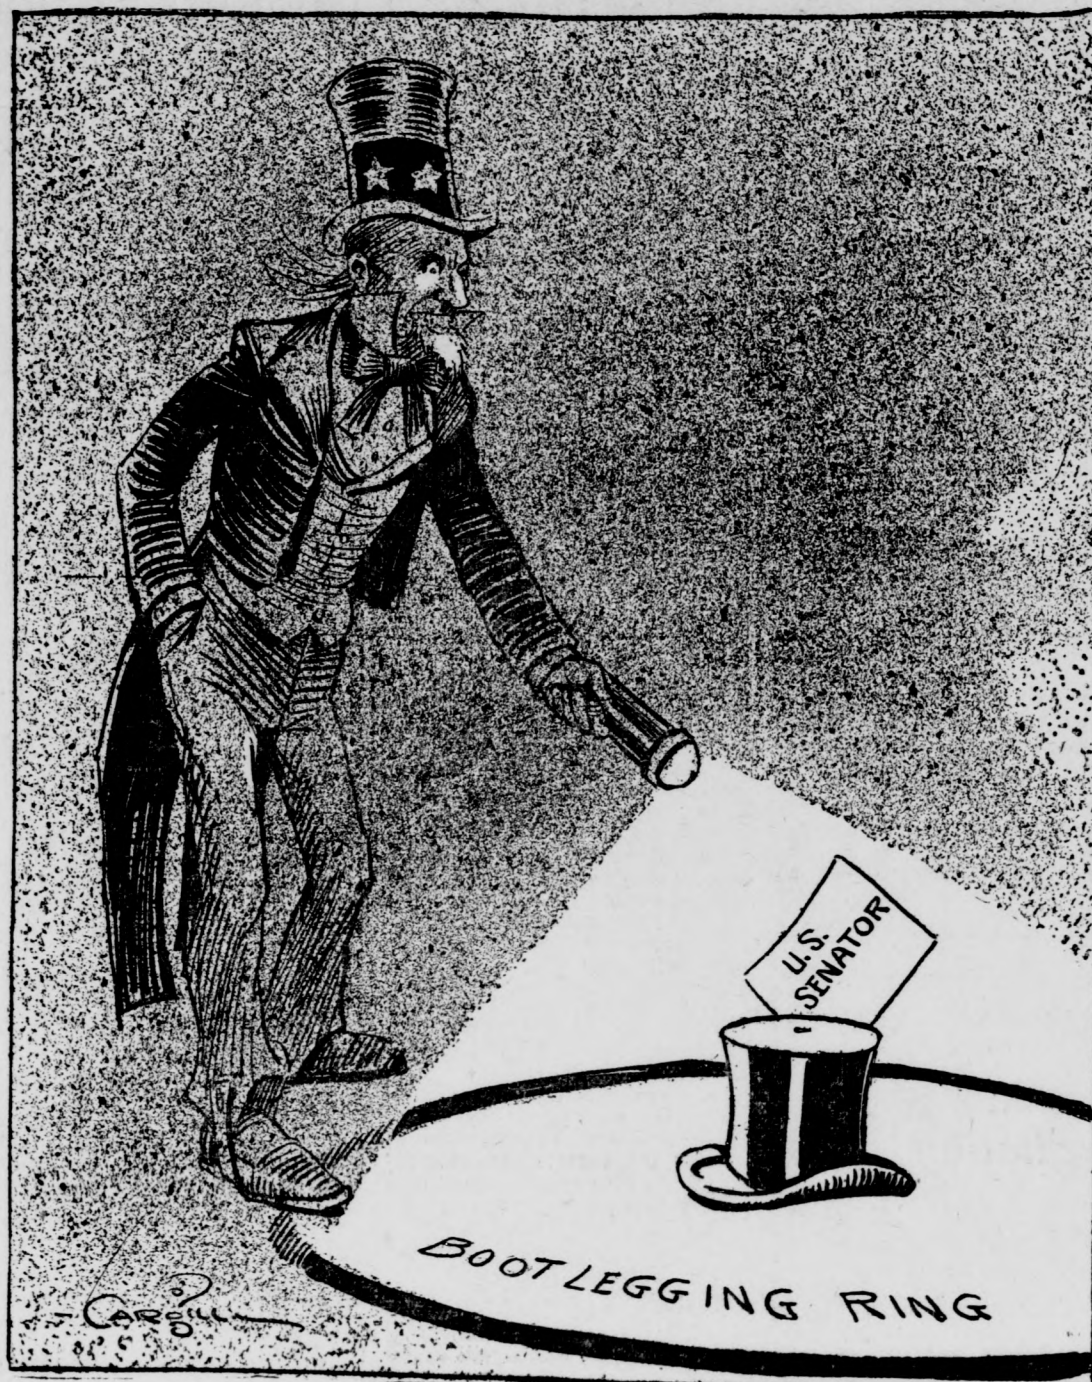

If we dare to be "different" we are ridiculed. If we choose the line of least resistance and follow the crowd we are standardized. It's a hard life. But, although we may look and act just like everybody else, no one can prevent us from feeling superior.

COST OF EDUCATION

Every now and then some statistician is trying to take the joy out of life and frighten us out of our extravagant habits by compiling figures showing just how much we spend foolishly each year. Heretofore we have been proud of our generosity toward the cause of education, but Capper's Weekly admonishes us to consult the following figures whenever we think we are spending too much on the schools.

Our yearly expenditures for education—all schools and colleges—total $1,100,000,000. We spend exactly twice this amount for tobacco, candy and soft drinks cost us $400,000,000 more than schools. We spend $8,000,000,000 on the movies, $3,000,000,000 for joy rides and pleasure resorts, and $10,000,000,000 for luxurious foods and service. Luxuries and non-essentials take 25 per cent of our national income as compared with the 1 1/2 per cent spent for education.

SOMETHING NEW IN POLITICAL CIRCLES

Bad Checks

By DR. FRANK CRANE

There are two kinds of bad checks. One is given by man, the other by nature.

One kind is written on paper, the other on character.

One is worth nothing, the other may be worth everything.

The first is a worthless check passed by a forger. The second is when a bolt of misfortune—a bad check in the advancement toward your goal—comes out of a blue sky.

Then you have to do one of two things: quit, or work harder than ever.

A horse's mettle is tested by pulling on the reins; a man's by receiving a bad check from nature.

Out in Kansas there is a blind student who is known as one of the best collegiate debaters in the Southwest. He has won every speaking contest in the college he is attending. Last year he was elected the most popular man in school. He is earning his own way and is doing four years' work in three years.

Up until the time he was 13, when he lost his sight, he had never read a book through in his life.

One day he said to me: "If I hadn't lost my sight, I would never have amounted to a thing. Now I HAVE to work, I HAVE to take things seriously."

Most of us can do so much more than we are doing that an obstacle we have to climb often makes us accomplish more with a handicap than we would have done without it.

Huber is the case of another blind man who made a bad check rebound to his success. Although he was blind, he became the greatest authority during his lifetime on the subject of bees.

It will be found, in the history of most men who have achieved success, that this has been due to their overcoming of obstacles, and not to their having had no obstacles to overcome. In fact, obstacles are put before us as a challenge to our ability. Overcoming what is unpleasant or what is a difficulty in our way has a tendency to develop our faculties.

We should not complain, therefore, when Nature or events put difficulties before us. We should hitch up our belt a notch tighter, and tackle them, for in so doing we develop our strength, and make ourselves much fitter to meet future dangers.

Life is just one obstacle after another, and "to him that overcometh shall be given the crown of life."

This passage of Scripture is one that we should always keep in mind, for it is our overcoming ability that demonstrates the amount and quality of life in us. We are constantly running away from difficulties, but, after all, it is these that bring out the best there is in us.

The best player in life is not the one who has the cards dealt favorably to him, but the one who can best play a bad hand.

In the Bank of Life, a bad check may, in the end, be cashed at a premium.

Horoscope

Venus in the evening in benefic aspect turns this day's influences to good, according to astrology. Earlier Saturn and Uranus are adverse.

There is a peculiarly fortunate sign for theatrical affairs. Plays and players should benefit this evening from the kindly influence of the stars.

Many unusual stage successes are forecast for this season which will bring fame to new stars in the theatrical firmament.

Contest between traditions outworn and ideals that are modern will multiply as this year advances, but the new era will be definitely marked in art and literature.

In legislative halls as well as in homes the aged will be tenacious of their old ideas, but they must give way before the progress of the new era.

Again the passing of leaders in politics, education and business is foretold and the death roll of distinguished names is to be longer than usual in 1925.

Many sudden demises will be recorded, for one of the signs of the times is the breaking of the human machine beneath the strain of readjustment to developing demands that life makes.

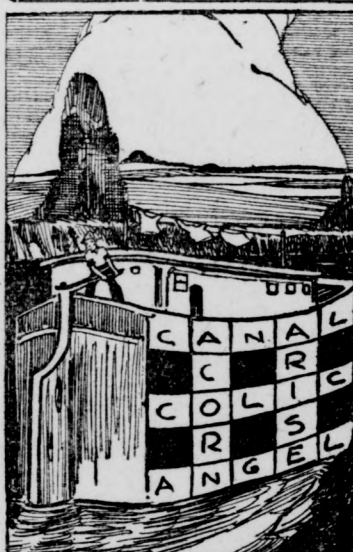

Uranus is in a place menacing to the safety of aviators and it is foretold that there will be new ways of protecting them from danger. One invention is to make travel by air common to all classes.

Mines and mining may cause trouble at this time when there is a sign making for accidents as well as unrest among workers.

Uranus gives warning, the seers announce, that the narcotic evil will continue to give much cause for anxiety.

In this period of world evolution the mind should be safeguarded as never before, it is emphasized, since the contest is

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNARD

The twentieth century has frequently been called "the century of the child." But Ellen Key points out that, even in our century, parents for the most part may be divided into two classes: those who act as if their children existed only for their benefit, and those who act as if they existed only for their children's benefit; the results, she adds, being alike deplorable.

For the first group of parents tyrannize over the child, seek to destroy its individuality, exercise an arbitrary discipline too spasmic to have any of the good effects of discipline and would model him into a copy of themselves, though really, she adds, it ought to pain them very much to see themselves exactly copied.

The second group of parents may wish to model their children, not after themselves, but after their ideals, yet they differ chiefly from the first class by their over-indulgence, by their anxiety to pamper the child by yielding to all his caprices and artificially protecting him from the natural results of those caprices, so that, instead of learning freedom, he has merely acquired self-will. These parents do not indeed tyrannize over their children, but they do worse; they train their children to be tyrants.

Against these two tendencies Ellen Key declares her own Alpha and Omega of the art of education:

Try to leave the child in peace; live your own life beautifully, nobly, temperately, and in so living you will sufficiently teach your children to live.

There are endless theories of education, but no greater agreement concerning the value of any of them, and the whole question of education remains open.

"Education, whatever else it should or should not be, must be an inoculation against the poisons of life and an adequate equipment in knowledge and skill for meeting the changes of life." This is the definition given by Havelock Ellis, who has been called the most civilized of living Englishmen.

cannot accept any nomination for the position and, therefore, he asks that his name be stricken from the list. He also desires, he states, to thank those who made the nomination for the interest shown in his behalf.

Mr. Francy, in asking The Glendale Evening News to announce his withdrawal, stated that he believed the City Council should be made up of men who were much younger than he.

Mr. Fenton believes the City Council should be made up entirely of business men and women should not be candidates, she stated to the nomination editor in asking that her name be withdrawn from the list. She has been a resident of Glendale for thirty years, she said, but feels women's place is not in politics.

S.A.D. Shilling Buys Building
At 225-227 South Brand
From Stilwell Agency

Acquisition of the one-story business structure at 225 and 227 South Brand boulevard, formerly owned by Roy L. Kent, C. W. Kent, A. L. Baird and W. G. Lauderdale, by S. A. D. Mr. Shilling, the new owner of the structure, has been a resident of Glendale for two years. He resides at 1317 North Brand boulevard. According to present plans Mr. Shilling will continue to lease the stores for business purposes. The present purchase is only one of a number contemplated by Mr. Shilling, he said.

Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county as follows:

"If the Board of Supervisors furnishes the material, the city of Glendale will agree to lay the same and pay for the labor out of the general fund, thus making a covered drain at least thirty-six (36) inches in diameter from the end of Sycamore Canyon road to the southerly city limits, providing the property owners along the wash will give necessary easements to lay said pipe and in other ways assist in carrying out this project, and providing further that the above depends on whether the proposed tunnel is built to carry flood waters from Sycamore canyon wash into the Verdugo wash."

The bids recently rejected by the Los Angeles county Board of Supervisors, for construction of a flood control tunnel from Sycamore canyon to the Verdugo wash, totaled $263,630, according to City Manager Stone.

A feature of the new ice cream factory is the huge electric sign erected on the roof of the building and bearing the name "Christopher's" emblazoned by 2500 electric light globes. It can be seen in either direction along San Fernando road for a distance of two and one-half miles and east and west for a great distance.

Under the direction of C. G. Hitchcock, who has been placed in charge of the Glendale factory, actual operation will commence during the latter part of this week. Mr. Hitchcock and all other employees of the concern in Glendale will have their homes in this city, it was announced.

For Council

EDWARD H. KERKER, the fourth to receive more than fifty nominations in The Glendale Evening News' nominations for City Council campaign, now being conducted. Who's next?

When The Glendale Evening News announced that it would receive nominations for city councilmen, it was stated that all who received fifty or more nominations would have their pictures published, also a brief biography. It happens that Edward H. Kerker is the fourth proposed candidate to receive fifty or more nominations, so his picture appears above and following is a brief story about him.

Edward H. Kerker, 344 West Wilson avenue, is a well-known Glendale pioneer real estate broker, and has been a resident of this city nineteen years. He was born in Chicago, Ill., on October 27, 1878, and received his education in grammar schools of that city, taking up chemistry at the age of fourteen years, and after being confined through hard study for seven years, was compelled on account of poor health to seek outside occupation.

He took up the selling of life insurance with the Prudential Life Insurance Co., which line he followed until, with his wife, he moved to Los Angeles in 1903. He returned to Chicago the following year, but succumbed to the charms of California and moved back to California in 1905. He became collector with the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., and worked his way to manager of the Glendale exchange. Later he was elected secretary of the Glendale Valley Improvement association, an organization of twenty men having for their object the welfare of this part of the San Fernando valley. Through Mr. Kerker's effort, the membership of the association was increased to 200, and the foundation for the consolidation of Tropico and Glendale was laid.

When he resigned as manager of the telephone company's local exchange, Mr. Kerker became deputy tax assessor in the Glendale district under W. O. Welch. It was at this time there was a big demand for houses and Mr. Kerker saw an opportunity to serve residents of Glendale. He set out at once to develop his home property into income, the place being located on Elk street back of where the Elks' home now stands. In 1913 he sold his Elk street property and entered the real estate business. For the past two years he has given his entire time to subdivision work and loaning money. His place of business for the past six years has been located at 136 North Brand boulevard.

Mr. Kerker is a notary public, also an active stockholder of the Glendale State bank. He has been a member of the Glendale Elks' lodge since 1917.

"This is great kindness and loyalty from my true friends and they know if my health permitted, I would fight for their rights, no matter what the personal cost might be," Mr. Kerker said in speaking of the number of votes he has received on the special nomination ballot appearing daily in The Glendale Evening News.

Do You Know the "Savings Feeling"?

A SENSE of prosperity and independence belongs to the saver. He is prosperous, for in his savings pass book is the key to financial advancement. He is independent, for his savings provide a bulwark against adversity and through them he may purchase whatever he wants that money can buy.

The saver holds his head high. He feels that he is a more important citizen of his community—and actually is. The possession of property of any sort—from a savings account to the many things that grow out of it—engenders better citizenship.

That is the "savings feeling." It may be purchased in small monthly payments through a teller's window at this bank.

CHAPTER XXVI

She talked gaily and without embarrassment to every one, passing them on with that tactful little word which is sometimes a hostess' greatest difficulty and having always the air of thoroughly enjoying her position, of finding real joy in welcoming individually members of the distinguished crowd which streamed slowly by. More than once Lord Yeovil, who in his court dress and dazzling array of orders was himself a striking figure, found time to glance for a moment, half in amusement, half in delight, at the girl by his side, whom the society papers of tomorrow were all to acknowledge as one of London's most promising hostesses. Step by step they moved on. Glancing upwards, Grant fancied once that she recognized him. If so, there was no change in her expression. She welcomed the Ambassador, talked for a moment with his wife, exchanged some jest about a golf match with the Naval Attaché, and finally turned away, to find Grant standing before her. She gave him her hand and smiled as frankly as ever. There was no trace of self-consciousness in her manner. Yet Grant was aware of a great chill of disappointment.

"Welcome back to London, Mr. Slattery," she said. "You really are a globe trotter, aren't you? I hope you've brought some new bridge problems with you for father. He needs a little distraction, poor dear, with all those terrible newspapers of yours hurling thunderbolts at his head."

"Glad to see you, Slattery," Lord Yeovil added. "You'll find Arthur in the room to the left. If dancing amuses you, he'll introduce you to some good partners."

And that was the end of it. Grant found himself amongst seven or eight hundred people, meeting an old acquaintance occasionally as he strolled about, introduced by Lyman to one or two young women with whom he danced, and all the time conscious of a vague but sickening sense of disappointment. This was the meeting to which he had looked forward so eagerly. He was judged and condemned, wiped out, finished with. And why not? Who in the world would believe that Gertrude had come to him as a stowaway? And, worse still, whom could he tell? It was a little trap of fate, into which he had fallen, a problem to which there seemed no solution.

Later in the evening Arthur Lyman sought him out and presented him to a white-haired, lean-faced man, in the uniform of an admiral.

"Admiral Sullivan would like to have a word or two with you, Grant," he said. "Unofficially, of course. The Admiral is head of our Naval Intelligence Department."

"I have heard of Admiral Sullivan often," Grant declared, shaking hands. "Once in Tokio, where he wasn't very popular, and again in Archangel."

"Don't mention that," the Admiral begged, with a little grin. "Tokio I don't mind. I hear you fellows are getting the wind up on the other side of the pond."

"We're shaking in our shoes," Grant assured him. "Can we find a place to talk?"

"I know the run of this house," he was the cheerful reply. "Come along."

They passed outside the formal suite of reception rooms into an apartment opening from the billiard room—a small den, in which were a few easy-chairs, a quantity of sporting literature, several decanters, and some soda water.

"This is Arthur Lyman's little shanty," Grant's cicerone explained. "Can I mix you one? Say when."

They subsided into easy-chairs. The Admiral's blue eyes were still twinkling.

"By the bye," he confided, "I'm the man who handled your reports from Archangel and Berlin."

"You didn't throw them into the wastebasket, I hope?"

"Not on your life," was the prompt assurance. "I acted upon them, and jolly quick, too. They tell me you've been doing S. S. work for Washington for the last two years."

"Two years and a half, to be exact," Grant admitted. "I'm beginning to piece things together."

"Interesting!" his companion murmured. "There have been rummy things going on all over the world—heaps of loose threads we've got hold of ourselves. I wonder whether your conclusions are the same as mine?"

DOBINSON PLAYERS

The story of "Love Laughs," which opens Wednesday at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre for its second week here, revolves about a nerve specialist who is besought by a lovesick bachelor to be made sick, that he may be nursed back to health by the young woman of his fancy. The doctor agrees and so is launched one of the cleverest comedies the Dobinson Players have yet staged.

Mary Worth heads the cast assembled for this fast-moving George D. Parker play. The supporting cast includes: Mary Isabelle Alpaugh, Joseph McManus, William H. Stephens, Richard Ehlers, Eugenia Florence, Arthur Lovejoy and Harry J. Glazier.

"There is no secret about my conclusions, so far as you're concerned," Grant replied. "I am convinced that there is a most venomous plot brewing against my country. That is why I am so thankful that the question of our joining the Pact has been raised again. My only fear is that it's a trifle late."

The Admiral selected and lit a cigar with deliberate care.

"Well," he said, "the world knows my opinion of Pacts and Limitation of Armaments Conferences, and all that sort of twaddle. They are started by philanthropic fools to be taken advantage of by rogues. I've given Yeovil seven questions to ask the Japanese representative at Washington, and I tell you that there isn't one of them which he will be able to answer."

"Thank heavens the Conference comes before the matter of joining the Pact is voted on by the Senate," Grant exclaimed fervently.

"Damned good job, I should think," the other agreed. "It's easy enough to see that your country's being riddled with propaganda. As regards that Con-

THE GATEWAY

A new Wesley Barry feature is scheduled at the Gateway theatre Wednesday. It is called "George Washington, Jr." and is adapted from the famous George M. Cohn stage comedy, which made such a tremendous hit in New York City. Wesley plays the title role, the same one that George M. Cohn played on the stage. This is a distinctly new characterization for him; he graduates, as it were, from "kid" roles into the young society man. "George Washington, Jr." is a rapidly moving comedy-drama of society life in the highest political circles of our capital. Its brilliant parties, the lavishly dressed women, the polished senators, diplomats and noblemen give enough promise of a highly spiced interesting picture.

But in addition to all this, there is Wesley Barry, the inimitable young actor, who never fails to win his way into your heart before the picture fades off the screen.

Wesley Barry is ably supported by a well known cast that includes Gertrude Olmstead, Edward Phillips, William Courtwright, Leon Barry, Charles Conklin and Otis Harlan. Direction was under Mal St. Clair. The usual Wednesday feature bill is augmented by a splendid line of selected vaudeville.

Eastern Labor Given
Encouraging Prospect

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 26.—Plans for construction here this year are on such a scale that heavy employment of both skilled and unskilled labor is assured. Plans for dwellings call for 600 or more new homes, to cost over $4,000,000. The city subway will account for a $20,000,000 expenditure. The Delaware river bridges, new electric plants and municipal church building programs will employ thousands of men.

ference how long is it supposed to last?"

"Usually about a fortnight," "Well, I'll tell you something. This time it won't last for twenty-four hours."

"Go on, please," Grant begged.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE CAT'S WHISKERS

"Come on, Uncle Wiggily! Come along!" called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy at the foot of the stairs in the hollow stump bungalow one afternoon.

"Come along where?" the bunny wanted to know.

"Don't you remember, you promised to go visiting with me today to see Aunt Lettie, the goat?" asked Nurse Jane. "Poor Aunt Lettie is ill, and you might cheer her up."

"Well, I'll do my best," promised the bunny gentleman. "But you must wait a few minutes for me."

"Why can't you come right away?" Nurse Jane asked.

"Because I must shave off my whiskers," answered the bunny. "I could never think of going to see Aunt Lettie without being shaved. I look as if I had a lot of dandelion fuzz on my chin."

"That must look funny!" laughed the muskrat lady housekeeper. "And so why not leave it on, Uncle Wiggily? Why bother to shave? If you look funny that will make Aunt Lettie laugh and when a sick person laughs that's a sign of getting better."

"Well, I'll try to make the goat lady laugh," said Mr. Longears, "but not by looking at my whiskers. I'll think up a joke to tell her. And now I'll shave as fast as I can and come with you."

So while Nurse Jane waited Uncle Wiggily went to the bathroom to shave. He made a lot of white, soapy lather on his brush and began to sharpen his razor.

And while he was lathering his face, and getting ready to trim off his long whiskers, Uncle Wiggily began to sink, as he often did. The song went something like this:

"Roo too, tidilly um,
Rung bung ka binko!
Sloo slee ker snitzio,
In jump jerinkio!"

It is a very pretty little song when hummed with the right words fitted to it. The only trouble was Uncle Wiggily could never think of the proper words, and all he knew was one verse, so he used to sing that over and over again until he drove Nurse Jane nearly crazy.

"But I won't say anything to him now," thought the muskrat lady.

Well, Uncle Wiggily was singing his funny song, and taking the whiskers off his chin when, all of a sudden the bathroom door opened.

"I'll be ready in a minute, Nurse Jane!" called the bunny, for he thought it was Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy looking to see how nearly he was finished. "I'll be right out!"

"You needn't come out on my account!" spoke a grizzly growlery voice, and the Bob Cat poked his head in the door.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

IT WON'T BE ANY EASIER TOMORROW!

There are probably quite a number who should have joined our reducing class and who would like to, but have not done so because of the fatal habit of postponing until tomorrow. It is for that class that I am reproducing today's article. I ran it last year during the reduction course, and from the letters I have received, I know it was the means of starting these procrastinators. So here it is again with some additions.

No one likes to be fat. I use the short and ugly term because it gives a definite picture more expressive than the term overweight. No one likes to be fat. No one likes to be fat. You don't like to be fat. You plan to diet—tomorrow. Now tomorrow is today and you are invited to a luncheon or a banquet or a picnic, and so you don't diet today. Still you are going to diet tomorrow. It is to those of you who are going to diet tomorrow that I address this article. I am going to tell you something that will start you dieting today.

It is this. You plan to diet today. You are hungry. A very tempting, fattening meal makes you think again that you will diet—tomorrow. When that thought comes up emphatically to yourself: "It won't be any easier tomorrow!" Picture yourself tomorrow going through the same struggle with the desire to eat the fattening foods, and then say again to yourself: "It won't be any easier tomorrow—UNLESS I BEGIN TODAY." I have found that thought has been a very helpful, deciding force with me many times.

Now, after you have controlled your appetite today, you can say it will be easier tomorrow. For that is an absolute fact. It will be ten times as easy tomorrow. What you do today for force of will, you are able to do tomorrow from force of habit. After a while you will find that the force of will occupied yesterday in place of the maxim—WHAT YOU DO AT FIRST FROM FORCE OF WILL YOU DO LATER FROM FORCE OF HABIT.

While I am talking of these psychological helps in reducing, let me tell you of some other helps. Plan the day before just what you are going to eat and write it down. Then it is settled in your mind and you won't have to be holding debating societies.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

ANSWERED LETTERS

Glady's: When massaging the neck to eradicate lines, use all four fingers and knead the muscles, going around in the direction of the lines. If there is any tendency toward sagging, massage the neck by using deep strokes that are both rotary and upward. Use a nourishing skin food during the massage and conclude treatment by toning the skin with an ice rub, or by dashing very cold water over it until the skin tingles from the exhilaration.

J. M. M.: It is possible that the soaking you give your hair each day is causing it to be very dry and brittle. You can train your hair to lie in place without wetting it or giving it the daily oiling, as you are doing at present, try this method: Put a drop or two of olive oil into the palm of your hand and then run the bristles of your hair brush over the palm. Use this treatment merely to brush into place whatever hair is still in need of it after you have finished combing. Be sure to keep the brush aired and clean, as this is an important item in caring for the health of the hair and scalp.

T. M. K.: It is impossible to suggest any treatment in your case, as you should be under the care of a good doctor. Your swollen nose is the result of trouble in your system or the nasal passages, neither of which should be allowed to go on without proper medical care.

Amelia D.: You did not include your address, so I could not have sent you the formulas. If you will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and repeat your request I will be very glad to forward any of the formulas to you whenever you ask for them. You probably need to build up your health besides massaging with nourishing creams. Try cod liver oil during all the cold months. A henna shampoo will brighten the shade of your hair; it also will not injure it, as will the things you have been using.

Teddy S.: If you use ammonia at all in a shampoo, a few drops to a basin of water would be enough; so you can imagine what would happen to your hair if you used your mixture of one-third ammonia to two-thirds water.

Patricia: An exercise for developing the bust as follows: Place hands on hips with fingers forward, bring arms forward as if aiming to make them meet in front while all the time you sink muscles of chest, shoulders and back. Repeat the same movements, but aim to make the arms meet in the back.

Tomorrow: Developing the Legs. All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question—The Editor.

Mrs. F. M.: "How can one exterminate mice?"
Answer: Stop all mice or rat holes with a large cork dipped first in water and then in cayenne pepper. Infested cellars should be sprinkled with quicklime around the edges of the floor close to the wall. Traps are best baited with fried bacon rinds, raw meat, and cheese. Always scald your traps before resetting them so as to rid them of the human scent; also set them with a stick if possible; for the same reason. A good mouse or rat poison is the following: Mix together one part each of barium (carbonate of barytes—bought at any drug store) and grated cheese, then add four parts of cornmeal and enough cold water to form a stiff dough. Leave bits of this dough in runways and be sure there is no water near which the mice or rats can reach; for they will leave the premises in search for a drink after eating this poisonous dough. I never advise using poison, however, in homes where there are children or animal pets.

Mrs. E.: "Some time ago one of your readers referred to washing a Palm Beach suit. I have washed a tan Palm Beach suit for my boy for three summers and he is still wearing it. Dissolve soap flakes in warm water and wash according to directions on the box; then rinse in cold water of the same temperature and iron before the garment becomes quite dry. You could not tell that the suit had ever been washed.

Another one of your readers—Mrs. R.—mentioned washing an enamel stove. Here is my method: After washing the top with soap and water saturate a cloth with linseed oil and rub this onto the enamel top; the oil makes the surface brighter. I do not apply this to the sides of the stove.

Answer: I am sure that many reader friends will be grateful to you for these hints. Thank you so much.

Young Housewife: "How can I clean silver lace?"
Answer: Sew the lace to a strip of clean linen and boil it in a solution of one cup of salt to one gallon of water. Dry without removing the lace from the linen then sponge the lace with white velvet dipped in alcohol. Gold lace may also be cleaned in this manner.

Ripley Comments on Post Card Rate Raise

Action of the United States Senate late yesterday, increasing the charge on postal cards from 1 cent to 2 cents, will not tend to decrease the volume of mail, according to Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson and other officials at the Glendale postoffice. One change will be apparent, officers said. There will be few postcards used in the future, the public preferring the privacy of the enclosed letter as long as the postage price is the same.

The action will not affect "direct-by-mail" advertisements, which are printed circulars, officials said, despite the fact that an attempt to increase the circular rate to 2 cents will be made shortly. This would have the effect of curtailing such means of advertising. Postmaster Jackson said. Postal employees hailed the news that a 2-cent rate on postcards had passed the Senate as indicating postal wage increases are near at hand.

NECKPIECE OF FUR WORN AT ALL TIMES

Adam's Apple Covered Up In Best Of Society, Rule Of Fashion Today

By AILEEN LAMONT
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—If Eve were alive today she would have made herself a fern neckpiece as well as a fig leaf apron. For ears now may be revealed, décolletés may be low, backs may be bare and skirts may be short—but the Adams apple should not be unadorned. Chokers are cherished whether they consist of a string of beads, a scarf, a neckpiece of fur, or a woolsen semblance of the same.

The number of high necked, long sleeve dresses is so remarkable that the trend is not to be mistaken. Scarfs are worn with practically every costume from a boudoir robe to a bathing suit and from sport dresses to low necked evening frocks. But it is in furs and their imitations that the fashion makes itself most evident.

Women who spend time and thought on their costumes are buying the necks themselves—sable, fox, squirrel and lynx—and having their chokers made from their own designs. In nearly every instance these neck coverings are wrapped high, tight and close with perhaps, head, claws and tail forming the fastening at one side.

Style In Scarfs
The winter resort costumes carry out these designs in the lighter summer furs. Some of the new scarfs are made of wide reversible ribbons joined together and fringed. Other scarfs are fastened close about the neck with gay colored leather flowers. A bow with a single loop serves the same purpose with others.

It is not essential that the scarfs have long ends. Some have only the proportions of a cravat and are tied close about the throat with the same knot used for a navy neckerchief. The jewel chokers range from crystal beads to pearls and balls of gold and silver filigree.

The real novelty, however, is the snug-fitting chokers knitted of zephyr wool in such a manner as to give the effect of a row of pom-pom about the neck. These are made in the pastel and jewel shades so popular for spring frocks.

Only a few of the women who wear the high neck pieces have low waists but all have low waists. The waist lines of the winter resort and spring dresses have fallen almost to the knee line. One society leader who is extremely short commented today that she did not need a skirt at all since the waist line of the new dresses was already at the hem so far as she was concerned.

The feet below the hem today are more attractively shown than ever before. But the styles in shoes have shown no radical departures this winter. Sizes, however, have multiplied. Smart shops now carry in stock a range from 3-AAAA to 10-EE-EE. It is noticeable that the 2's seem to have disappeared. Probably the shoekeepers think that any woman lucky enough to be able to wear a 2-quadruple-A

Modoc County Ignored On Golden State Map

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 27.—Modoc county wants to know why she has been ignored in the giant replica of the Golden State on exhibition in the Ferry building, San Francisco under the auspices of the California Development association, and Siskiyou county likewise will demand an explanation from the directors of the association why its largest town, Dunsmuir is represented by a blank space.

Modoc with its miles of contorted lava beds, its weird juniper trees, its mule tailed deer and other natural attractions is incensed at this omission and with Siskiyou sent representatives to attend the meeting of the California Development association in Sacramento, last week, to demand an explanation of the occurrence.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—One full box of nickel cigars was the total contraband netted by George Contreras in a search for illicit liquor in Belvidere. The detective perceived a suspicious looking package under the arm of a pedestrian and investigated. Instead of the bottle of "bottled in bond" the bond of 5 cent perfectos was discovered. They had been stolen from a grocery store at First and Gage streets, Belvidere. The man arrested gave his name as Homer Smith.

Don Francisco, advertising expert, talked on "Advertising Gold Bricks" at the weekly luncheon of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles held today at the Biltmore hotel. Grade crossing accidents in 1924 per 1000 registered automobiles were reduced on the Southern Pacific 22.07 per cent with a reduction of 20.14 per cent in the number of fatalities as compared with 1923, according to reports revealed today by the company's officials here.

Opening sessions were held here yesterday for the thirtieth annual convention of the diocese of Los Angeles, Episcopal church. Approximately 500 delegates from among the clergy and laity of the denomination from southern California towns were in attendance. Threatening his victim with a revolver, an unmasked bandit forced W. Roberts, theatre manager in Hollywood boulevard to open the theatre safe and hand over yesterday's receipts of $691, according to a report to the Hollywood police.

Booth Tarkington, famous author, will not have to trial as one of the defendants in a $500,000 plagiarism suit brought against him, K. J. McDonald and the First National Pictures corporation, it was decided by Federal Judge Bledsoe. Tarkington and the others were sued by Miss Maud Greenwood, who charged they had plagiarized her idea for a picture, "Boy of Mine," which she had written under the title of "My Dad."

Zane Southern went on trial today in superior court here for the alleged murder of R. E. Mack, theatrical enterprise promoter. The state will demand the death penalty but defense attorneys said they would prove that Southern shot in defense of his home.

After an absence of several years from Pacific coast polo circles, Jim Spalding, former Hawaiian player and prominent member of the Midwick Country club here, will attempt a "come back" in the game under the leadership of Carleton Burke. AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, Jan. 27.—

One of the most successful dances ever given by the La Crescenta Women's club was held last Saturday night. Specially arranged lights made the school auditorium where the affair was held a fairy-like place. Overhead in the center of the room was a large silver crystal chandelier which when lighted by the spotlight threw the reflections of the dancers from every angle in glowing colors.

Refreshments were served by Mesdames C. A. Hashins, Fred Anderson and Mark S. Collins, under whose auspices the dance was given.

On Wednesday afternoon the La Crescenta Women's club will hold an open meeting which will be a program affair. Each guest is entitled to bring guests when the Shakespearean club of Pasadena, will present its program. There also will be a number of dances in costume given by the pupils of the Norma Gould school. These meetings are held in the school auditorium and begin at 2:30 p. m.

Tonight at 8 o'clock there will be a meeting of the taxpayers of the valley to discuss school questions in regard to the voting and spending of the $500,000 bonds which will be voted on at the Thursday evening meeting called by the school board. This meeting at the Fowler building was called by Mr. Fowler. A. B. Cochran of Montrose will be chairman. Questions to be brought up are: "How shall the school be financed?" "Where shall monies be spent?" "Will the smaller children have a school west of Pennsylvania or must they walk over dangerous boulevards?" and "What about bus transportation?"

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Swain of Sparr Heights, entertained at a farewell party Saturday night. Dancing was enjoyed by the guests as was a buffet, midnight supper. Those who met to bid the Swains farewell were: Mrs. Alma Harcourt of New York and Los Angeles; J. Chalmers Anderson of Bay St. Louis, Miss; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Millett and Walter Otis of Los Angeles; Raymond H. Conway, Montrose; Mr. and Mrs. Stimson Jones of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Craig, La Crescenta; Roy Rice, Miss Marie Rice, M. V. Potts, Calvin Jones and Miss Edna Brinker of Los Angeles.

Eight grade graduates of the La Crescenta school have been royally entertained during the past week by the "B Eighties," who gave the retiring class a party in the school, where games were enjoyed. A negro act staged by Alva Anderson and Roy Peck was thoroughly enjoyed and an original playlet written by Eileen Karr was given by Elizabeth Talbot Martin, Ruth Reynolds and Eileen Karr. Ruth Reynolds portrayed the maid of 1800, Eileen Karr the peppy maiden of the present day, while Elizabeth Talbot Martin was the bride of all times. After the games the children and teachers were served salad, sandwiches, ice cream and cake the gift of the lower class to the graduates.

On Saturday the graduates were entertained with a class picnic. The morning hours were devoted to short hikes in Griffith park and swimming at Bimbal Baths. After luncheon which was prepared and served by Mrs. Peck of the school cafeteria the afternoon was given over to hiking in the trails of Griffith Park. Mothers chaperoning the party were Mesdames A. W. Angier, Robert Wildhack, George Hansen, G. Sprinkle and Henry Biescar. An auto truck for the supplies was loaned the school by Harvey Bissell.

CHICAGO PUTS UP BATTLE ON SMOKE

High Cost Of Keeping Clean Reaches Large Amount; Campaign Is On

By O. L. SCOTT
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—The cost of keeping clean in Chicago has jumped with such leaps and bounds of late that a new rumper under way hereabouts to jostle the city fathers into some sort of action that will bring their metropolis back among the other big places of the country where laundry bills are normal.

A cry against this winter's smoke is extending from the highest to the lowest and from the poorest to the wealthiest inhabitants, accelerated by estimates of the Chicago smoke abatement commission that soot adds $42,000,000 to this city's laundry bill alone. These mathematicians have it that smoke costs each Chicago family $50 a year, and any family will vouch for the fact that the estimate is far too low.

There's nothing like it in the country, although Pittsburgh and Cincinnati have per capita laundry bills that approximate Chicago's and this does not take into consideration the extra effort that housewives and washwomen put into this increasingly difficult business of keeping down the city's grime.

Charge for Towels
Its studies of the 400,000 smoke stacks that grace the Chicago skyline convince the abatement commission that at least $8,000,000 is lost annually in the poor use of fuel, while loss of health and business losses from such palls of smoke as settle over the city when clouds hang low, was not computed. Health Commissioner Herman Bundesen has said though, that a Chicago baby has a black coating in his lungs before he's three months old, while emphasizing that every Chicagoan is a smoke burner.

Now the smoke business is striking out to take the pennies away from school children, with a tax placed on washed hands and faces. The towel bill alone in Chicago schools totals $22,000, which the school board is balking at paying. It proposes to charge a penny a towel for each one used. Even this charge would result in only a partial recovery of the expense.

At the same time the smoke abatement commission is asking for $80,000 from the City Council with which to employ an additional fifty smoke inspectors to keep a watch over the city's smoke stacks. Now thirty men have to keep an eye on nearly half a million stacks, an admittedly difficult task.

Railroads Help
The smoke fighters think that with more money they can educate more janitors into proper methods of firing, and more building owners into using modern smoke burning appliances that do away with the pall of soot that daily pours out of poorly equipped furnaces.

Some response is coming from the railroads, who are a locomotive add a good share to the downtown smoke evil. They are planning electrification as a means of doing away with their share of the nuisance.

Until education does the rest, the dirty shirt and collar is to remain the sign of the Chicagoan.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

IF YOUR BACK HURTS OR BLADDER BOTHERS YOU, BEGIN TAKING SALTS

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with one of those drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active. Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate the clogged kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advertisement.

Gentlemen:

It gives me a great deal of pleasure and satisfaction to tell you about the wonderful service your Western Giant tires are giving me.

On buying my last one I left with you tire #210181 (70 x 3 1/2) which has run over a period of forty months and has made 34,596 miles on my route. This is figured from a basis of deducting for per month for thirty-five months, five months being deducted for time as a spare. No evening or Sunday driving was taken into consideration. This, I think you will agree, is exceptional service for any tire being used thru three winters of mud and frozen ruts.

I have more of your tires and feel sure that they are making an average of 25,000 miles per tire. I certainly am a booster for Western Giants.

PRESENT CONDITIONS, SCHOOL NEEDS GIVEN

Quote Figures to Show Most Rooms Now
Used are Overcrowded; Explains
Cost of Proposed Buildings

The following statement on the proposed bond issue for intermediate and elementary schools was prepared by the public committee of the bond campaign. The members of the committee requested The Glendale Evening News to publish the statement, which follows:

About a year ago your Board of Education in conjunction with the Board of Trustees of the Glendale Union High school district undertook a school survey in Glendale for the purpose of determining present conditions, probable needs, and the cost of a program of expansion which would adequately take care of those needs.

Present Conditions
Since December, 1917, the enrollment in the elementary and intermediate schools of Glendale has grown from 1,426 to 5,512, a growth of 286 per cent in seven years. Under these conditions it has been absolutely impossible to provide grounds, buildings and equipment at a rapid enough rate to keep up with the growth, hence used by our repair men. Also the school auditorium is in use as a classroom almost every period each day.

Our elementary schools enrolling the grades from the kindergarten through the sixth are in just as bad condition. In these schools we have twenty-two rooms enrolling approximately 800 children, operating on the half-day basis, and another twenty-two rooms enrolling approximately 800 children, housed in temporary quarters. At the present rate of growth this condition will, of course, be decidedly worse by the time school opens in September, 1925.

Probable Needs
To meet these conditions with an adequate program of expansion we feel that it will be necessary to (1) add to the grounds and building of the Glendale Intermediate school; (2) build an intermediate school on the site now owned on Glenwood road and Kenilworth avenue; (3) buy a site in the northeast part of the city for the development of an intermediate school in the future; (4) build additions to eight of the ten present elementary schools; (5) add to the grounds of the Doran street and Columbus avenue schools; (6) buy new sites in those parts of the city not now served by elementary schools; (7) build the first unit of such elementary schools on two out of the six sites; (8) build a single unit on the site now owned at Sparr Heights.

Intermediate school requirements, $361,000.

Men's Furnishings on Half Price, Carlock's

I. B. Carlock, proprietor of the men's furnishing shop at 135 1/2 South Brand boulevard, whose lease expires February 1, is conducting, until that time, a half-price sale of all furnishings in store. Five more days remain for Glendale to take advantage of the reduced prices offered in this closing-out sale. Mr. Carlock's stock comprises, he says, nothing but standard merchandise and guaranteed brands of shirts, underwear, hosiery, hats and gloves.

Requirements, $462,000.
New elementary school sites and buildings, $322,000.
Street improvement (estimated), $40,000.
Improvement of grounds, $15,000.

Grand total of estimated requirements for intermediate and elementary schools, $1,200,000.

These estimates as to building costs are based upon figures furnished by reputable architects and the land figures are for the most part the prices at which the property has been offered by the owners. In this latter connection we wish the public to know that it is not our intention to pay exorbitant prices for any property but rather to exercise the right of condemnation which we have under the law in cases where we cannot agree on a reasonable price with the owners.

We believe this program is necessary at this time and that it will, as far as sites are concerned, probably take care of the needs for the next five years or longer. As to buildings, that will, of course, depend upon the growth and development of the different sections of the city.

As your elected representatives having charge of the Glendale City School system we do not hesitate to say that we believe that this program is entirely worthy of your support as citizens.

Formal Opening Plans For Branch Library

Plans for a celebration to mark the formal opening of the new North Branch library, which will be ready for occupancy within a short time, will be taken up at the meeting of the Foothill Improvement association at the Grand View schoolhouse on Tuesday night, February 3. An invitation to the Greater Northwest Improvement association to join in this observance has been extended by President Alex Mitchell of the Foothill body.

The new library building, costing in the neighborhood of $11,000, is virtually completed, excepting for the installation of a heating system. Funds to provide the heating plant will be sought by members of the improvement association when they appear before the City Council Thursday morning.

Since 1918, when they conceived the idea of seeing the world from an automobile, they have been in every high of the forty-eight states of the union, and in many foreign lands. They make their expenses en route, they said, taking pictures and lecturing.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Industrial stocks presented a strong front to the bears until shortly after the noon period today when heavy selling broke out in the market and prices were again reactionary. The strong market for U. S. Steel, American Can and Independent Oil stocks, helped to sustain prices in the early trading and stocks were also in demand from the shorts.

Money conditions favored the bears. Call money renewed at 4 per cent and technical conditions in the market, which was heavily planted with stop-loss orders, also helped to continue the decline in this period.

The Humble Oil company, Ohio Oil company and other prominent distributors of refined oil products, boosted gasoline another cent a gallon today in their respective territories. Higher than posted prices were also reported for crude oil in the Mid-Continent and other producing fields.

Oil stocks continued their rally and many of the most active independent oils, like Sinclair, Skelly, Cosden and the Pan-Americans, went ahead to new high price levels. The oils also demonstrated their ability to hold their new gains and were comparatively inactive during the reactionary period. Standard Oil stocks both on the curb and in the listed market sold at or near the season's highest prices.

American Can was a prominent leader in the industrial stocks today and sold within 2 points of its record high price. Wall Street heard that the melon-cutting in this stock, so long delayed, is likely to take place in the early part of this year. Cast Iron Pipe was boosted up to 180 on the same argument, though the speculative district had no definite ideas as to the form which this distribution will take.

Trading slowed down in the fourth hour and speculative attention was displayed chiefly in the oils. A heavy decline in Simms Oil to 20 1/2 was an upsetting factor here, but Pacific Oil headed a strong forward movement and sold up to 61, the highest since 1922.

Traders in industrial stocks were disposed to await the publication of the quarterly statement of steel corporation earnings and the action of the dividend. Wall Street estimates of earnings for the last quarter of 1924 ranged between $27,000,000 and $30,000,000.

Statements of earnings of American railroads for December made public today were in the same favorable tenor as on Monday. Missouri Pacific preferred earned $9.08 in 1924 and Texas and Pacific $6.82. Rail stocks were inconspicuous, not even the low-priced stocks appearing in the trading lists. St. Pauls were weak but no effort was made to depress them as in some previous sessions. Motors, coppers, equipments and specialties were very inactive and steady.

Stock sales totalled 1,363,800 shares; bonds, $13,139,000.

Mrs. Ira B. Carlock delighted the members of the Glendale Exchange club with several whistling selections at the meeting held today noon at the Masonic temple. Mike Kaufman, club pianist, was accompanist. President William Baker presided at the meeting.

Carl M. Christy reported on the new plans for increased attendance at meetings. An attendance contest will start next week and last until June, he said. The membership will be divided into five teams, and the team captains will be: Dr. George Campbell, C. C. Ogilby and Sam Warren.

Attorney H. W. Chase spoke on the "Father and Son" banquet on February 9. The club will care for twelve fatherless boys at the banquet, it was decided.

Plan Dinner Dance
D. Ripley Jackson announced plans for a dinner dance, to be held February 12, at the Sunset

Canyon Country club under the auspices of Exchange club. Robert Mosier, a former member of the club, now living in Ocean Park, spoke on the charter-night celebration at San Diego on February 14.

Secretary T. F. Culhane announced Asa W. McGuire, of The Glendale Shopping News, had been elected a member of the club, and would be named scout-master of the troop sponsored by the club. Peter Neise announced a bowling match between the Glendale and Hollywood clubs at Hollywood on February 19.

Appeal Case Against Glendale is Argued

Ray L. Morrow, Glendale city attorney, appeared today before the Supreme court of California, sitting in bank in Los Angeles, and argued on behalf of the city, in the appeal brought by Winifred F. Marr from the decision of the lower court, in which the decision was in favor of Glendale. The action involves $50,000 worth of municipal improvement district No. 6 bonds. The lower court declared them legal and valid. Winifred F. Marr claims they are illegal and invalid, and that they do not constitute a lien against her property.

REPORT DOLAN TO TESTIFY IN CASE

Banished Coach Willing to Tell Judge Everything He Knows of Bribe

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.
NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Cozy Dolan, the man who may yet get around to the matter of remembering what he forgot, if anything, is coming back to Broadway within the next forty-eight hours to answer for his part, if any, in baseball's latest scandal.

His attorney, William J. Fallon, reaffirmed today his statement that Dolan will welcome a reopening of the case, but neglected to state just when Cozy will furnish visible evidence of this sentiment.

One report had it that Dolan will appear at the district attorney's office today, to be questioned at or about the same time as Horace Ford, Philadelphia second baseman, the first man to whom Sand told of O'Connell's attempted bribery. But nothing has been heard of Dolan leaving his home at Oshkosh, Wis. In fact, Dolan's silence has been almost painful during recent months.

No Jurisdiction
Assistant District Attorney Brothers, conducting the investigation, is believed to know of Dolan's intentions, but Brothers is saying very little these days. He did admit, however, that if Dolan declines to appear, nothing immediate could be done about it.

The former Giant coach, alleged by O'Connell to have been the inspiration behind his, O'Connell's, attempted bribe, has been barred from baseball; therefore he no longer is under the jurisdiction of Judge Landis' office. The judge has notified the district attorney's office that he can and will produce all others identified with the case excepting Dolan and O'Connell, the two men dropped from the lists as a result of the original inquiry.

Wife Says Dolan In Chicago on Business

OSHKOSH, Wis., Jan. 27.—Cozy Dolan is in Chicago "on business" but cannot be reached there, according to Mrs. Dolan, his wife, who came here with him some weeks ago. Mrs. Dolan refused to comment on the statements of Dolan's attorney that the ball player would go to New York to answer questions put to him, breaking a long silence. She declined to give a Chicago address at which her husband might be reached, and stated she did not know whether he would continue on to New York on this present trip.

Cunningham Denies He Knew About Bribe

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—While Cunningham, Boston Brave outfielder, in a San Francisco hospital, stricken with appendicitis, declared today he knew nothing of the Dolan-O'Connell baseball scandal.

Cunningham denied that he had said Ross Young, Giant player and his former room-mate, had admitted to him that he knew of O'Connell's being asked in a "kid" way to offer $500 to Heinie Sand, Philadelphia shortstop, to "ease up" on the Giants in a certain game.

"There's nothing to it," Cunningham said.

AT NEW YORK—Ruby Stein, New York, got decision over Bud Dempsey, New York, six rounds; Lew Hurley, New York, got decision over Marty Silvers, New York, six rounds.

AT CLEVELAND—Benny Gershe, Cleveland, knocked out Harry "Batling" Leonard of New York, in fourth; Eddie Anderson, Wyoming, and Jackie Nichols, Detroit, drew in eight rounds.

AT PHILADELPHIA—Jimmy Goodrich of Buffalo, defeated Harry "Kid" Brown, ten rounds.

AT SCRANTON, Pa.—Joey Ross, New York, and Ty Coleman, Scranton, drew in ten rounds.

SPORTDOM ALL OVER

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

Movie magnates consider it next to an insult to have their business compared to the stage.

Comparison always is odious. We don't blame them. But watch 'em grab all the plays that show themselves to New York's Broadway, in many instances paying more for the motion picture rights than the play grosses during its "flop" run under the White Lights. Thirty-five thousand dollars is a "pikers" price for one of these flops. The same script coming from an unknown writer wouldn't bring 3500 cents if offered to anyone of the "authorities" on art in the movies hibernating in Hollywood. Whether comparing be welcome or not, movie magnates have no scruples.

According to reliable and unreliable sources William Fox paid Channing Pollock $125,000 for the screen rights to his book, "The Fool," which, because of one of the best-directed publicity campaigns ever put back of a play, went over big. Mr. Fox wanted to capitalize on that "went over big" stuff and showed his willingness by paying $125,000 for the rights to do so.

A year has passed since Fox bought the rights. Nothing has been done as far as Ye Ed knows to turn a camera on "The Fool." When the camera has done its work Mr. Fox probably will realize plenty on his venture—not because of any dramatic worthiness of "The Fool" (it's all dramatic hookum) but because of the tremendous publicity this play received during its long run in New York and "on the road."

Another bit of stage strategy the "fillums" have hooked from the profession they "don't wish to be associated or compared with" because the movies are so much more "artistic" than the stage, is the forcing of a run of a picture.

A fine example is now, and has been since the holidays, being given at Grauman's Egyptian theatre in Hollywood. "Romola," starring Lillian and Dorothy Gish is just an ordinary garden variety of picture—not as good as the majority of so-called program pictures. It has been running at Grauman's since before Xmas—for no reason at all.

Sid Grauman—the good showman that he is—realized "Romola" was a punk picture but Sid is not the final word on what goes into Grauman's Egyptian. "Romola" coming on the heels of Lillian Gish's excellent screen version of "The White Sister" was believed "sitting pretty" regardless of its punkeness as a "super" production.

Sid Grauman charges pretty nearly regular Broadway (New York) legitimate prices to go inside his Egyptian theatre. In this event customers have a right to expect something a little above the ordinary. They certainly got fooled with "Romola."

But Sid Grauman, being crazy like a fox, anticipated all this with an extravagant back of the curtain. He put on a ballet, a lot of girls, bare-legged and otherwise and presented as "incidental" to "Romola" a stage attraction so far superior to the feature picture, that customers get an even break for their Broadway prices.

"Romola" still runs at the Egyptian. We don't know how the weekly receipts show up but we'll wager Grauman's Egyptian theatre has lost money on "Romola" every week it's been showing.

West Coast Theatres which organization controls Grauman's Egyptian—not Sid Grauman—probably figures the loss can be taken with more graciousness than its organization could admit having a "flop" in this theatre. So "Romola" continues on its way, bolstered by an offering from the stage which the "fillums" don't want to be mentioned in the same breath with. The "fillums" can thank the stars the stage could be resorted to in this particular case at last.

"Romola" will leave the Egyptian with press agents for the picture wildly dashing around the country with 24-sheet posters telling the world about that record run at Sid Grauman's famous Egyptian theatre in Hollywood. And the rest of the country taking Sid Grauman's word for it will go in and get "stuck" at "top" prices by one of the well-known "super" pictures that has been forced down the public's throat in many moons.

All of which recalls Mr. P. T. Barnum and his famous words apropos of the well-known and justly-famous sucker.

TIGER FLOWERS IS STILL GOOD DRAW

Beating at Hands of Delaney Fails to Distract From His Ring Ambitions

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.
NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Newark, N. J. promoters who called off the Ted Moore-Tiger Flowers engagement when Delaney knocked out Flowers in New York are now realizing that they acted hastily.

It was the shrewd Tex Rickard who convinced them of this. Believing—and wisely so—that Flowers' drawing powers had not been hurt by his knockout, he signed him to meet Barlenbach—and don't think there won't be a crowd to see this show.

In the meantime, Flowers is proceeding with his plans to be the hero of a film series which will be displayed in movie houses patronized by colored folk. Neither he nor his manager, nor the public, for that matter, seem to feel that all was lost when he collided with Delaney's right fist. Barlenbach was similarly unfortunate, but see how they still pack 'em in when he does battle.

As for Delaney, he seems to be the unfortunate position of not being able to pick up good money through meeting second raters. He has got to fight the top notchers to rake in soft coin in any volume.

Any fighter who comes in wide open, as Flowers and Greb do, as Barlenbach used to do, is fair game for Delaney. But the fighter, second rater, or otherwise, who can hit and is a good defensive fighter is always likely to make a good showing against the French Canadian. And this is one explanation of his in and out work.

Men who have fought Flowers say that anyone who can beat him to the punch has a very good chance, but otherwise not. Looks as if that was what Delaney did.

Romero Rojas has been spoiling all the plans which promoters had been laying for him. After gaining renown by beating Jackson, off he goes into England to state making the sort of exhibition.

The latest man to show him up is Martin Burke who gave the Chilean a good beating out in Minnesota. It was Burke who knocked Fulton kicking when Fred had been resurrected and was being groomed for a go with Luis Firpo.

The promoters should pay Burke to be less ferocious. Or why not take Burke up and put him in the big money class? All he needs is the proper handling.

By TOM THORP
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Paavo Nurmi's defeat in the Brooklyn college games is the talk of the athletic world.

The phantom Finn misjudged the capabilities of his rival, Gunnar Nilson. The mistake cost him considerable prestige. It will all make his task of beating his field in the Millrose three-quarter-mile test much more difficult than it would have been had he kept his record clean.

The American rivals are going to take heart after seeing the colors of the Finnish star dragged in defeat.

True it is that the handicap which Nilson of the Finnish-American A. C. received was a most generous one. Starting from the 100 yard mark in a 2000 yard test is quite an advantage to be given over a rival.

However, before the race everyone agreed the Nurmi would have little trouble in vanquishing his opponent. For this reason the defeat is something more than a passing fancy.

To the real dyed-in-the-wool critic it means that the Finnish titleholder is not unbeatable. It has been said of a race horse that a champion is one for whom no excuses are necessary. The same holds good in the case of Paavo Nurmi. From now on he is going to receive some hard battles from his rivals.

The Chicago Nationals have been handicapped in their fight for the championship because they have not had a good first baseman for some time and the trade with Pittsburgh was made as much to get a high class first baseman as anything else. The splendid play of Judge at first base for Washington contributed largely to the winning of the 1924 championship. Ellison batted 381 in 1924 in 201 games. If he could do that in California, he should be a .350 batter in the National league. And even if he batted only .325 he would be a lot of help to the Red Sox. Danbert at his best was not a uniform hitter of that strength.

The San Francisco club is in need of pitchers and some major organization that needs a first baseman and has some pitchers to spare might make a dicker for Ellison.

Cincinnati is likely to let Cavency go and if the National league club passes him along through waiver channels it is figured that Detroit will be sure to take him. As Cavency can play a little at second base in a pinch. And to this day the Detroiters are looking for the second baseman who is to lead them to the pennant they have been seeking so long under management of Hughey Jennings and Ty Cobb.

Bobby Barrett, who was slated to meet Dode Bercott in the ten-round main event at Vernon tonight, has been ordered to bed by his physician, following an attack of flu, and Alex Hart, stable mate of Barrett, will go against Bercott tonight. Julius Jessick and Billy Young will meet in the semi-main event, a six-round event. Joe Layman and Jimmy Holly are booked for the feature preliminary of six rounds. Roy Cliffe and Harry Lee are down for four rounds and Young Sam Langford and Louie Garcia will open the show with four rounds of milling.

A needle-finding button has been designed.

Haiti has a business boom.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—If the Cincinnati Reds fail to win the National league pennant next season there will be more than one "I told you so" critic to rise with the explanation that it was because they failed to acquire Ellison of San Francisco to play first base for them.

It does look as though Ellison would have rounded out the Red infield in capital style. Baseball men just back from California say he would have contributed greatly to Cincinnati's chances of finishing up at the top. From what can be learned, Cincinnati would have been glad to use Ellison had not San Francisco held him at such a high price.

As it is, the Reds have signified their intention of using Bressler at first, although he is not as good as his predecessor, and according to the experts who have seen both, not as good as Ellison. Cincinnati needs a good first baseman this year, as the remainder of the infield will be made over to some extent and a first baseman who can help the youngsters will handicap the team.

Jack Hendricks, the Red manager, has confidence in Bressler's ability to do well. Bressler has filled in now and then at first, but it is one thing to fill in and another to play the game every day. It is more and more evident that much of the success of any ball club depends upon a high class first baseman upon a high class first baseman winning, 44 to 17.

The Chicago Nationals have been handicapped in their fight for the championship because they have not had a good first baseman for some time and the trade with Pittsburgh was made as much to get a high class first baseman as anything else. The splendid play of Judge at first base for Washington contributed largely to the winning of the 1924 championship. Ellison batted 381 in 1924 in 201 games. If he could do that in California, he should be a .350 batter in the National league. And even if he batted only .325 he would be a lot of help to the Red Sox. Danbert at his best was not a uniform hitter of that strength.

The San Francisco club is in need of pitchers and some major organization that needs a first baseman and has some pitchers to spare might make a dicker for Ellison.

Cincinnati is likely to let Cavency go and if the National league club passes him along through waiver channels it is figured that Detroit will be sure to take him. As Cavency can play a little at second base in a pinch. And to this day the Detroiters are looking for the second baseman who is to lead them to the pennant they have been seeking so long under management of Hughey Jennings and Ty Cobb.

Bobby Barrett, who was slated to meet Dode Bercott in the ten-round main event at Vernon tonight, has been ordered to bed by his physician, following an attack of flu, and Alex Hart, stable mate of Barrett, will go against Bercott tonight. Julius Jessick and Billy Young will meet in the semi-main event, a six-round event. Joe Layman and Jimmy Holly are booked for the feature preliminary of six rounds. Roy Cliffe and Harry Lee are down for four rounds and Young Sam Langford and Louie Garcia will open the show with four rounds of milling.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—Walter Johnson, pitching ace of the Washington club, was reported considering a contract to enter vaudeville, an eastern outfit having tendered him a contract. Friends of Johnson said they did not think he would accept the offer as the contract would extend into June and interfere with his playing next year.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The climax of America's greatest indoor season on track and field will come tonight when the premiere of the Millrose A. C.'s two-day meet will be held with Paavo Nurmi, Joie Ray, Jimmy Connolly, Lloyd Hahn and Leo Larrievie, meeting in a special three-quarter mile run. The great Paavo, stung by the fact that he finished second to a handicap runner several nights ago, has declared his intention of going after Ray's seven-year-old record for the distance, 3:05, with a vengeance.

Tonight will mark Nurmi's thirteenth assault on world's records since coming to America, 12 already having fallen before his bewildering speed. The defeat of Larrievie and Ray by Jimmy Connolly on Saturday night, has installed the latter as the dark horse. Willie Ritola, who broke five world's records in one race on Saturday, also will step out tonight. He will concede liberal handicaps to a field in a three-mile run.

Tomorrow night the Christian church will hook up with the Huli Trucks. The truckmen were winners last week, defeating the Standard Oils. It looks like another victory for the truckmen.

Thursday night will see the first game played by the team from Glendale post No. 127, American Legion. The Legion team was late in entering the league, but showed up well in practice. The M. E. churchmen will meet the Legion hoopers.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—They are getting ready to give Mickey Walker a fine reception when he comes out to the Pacific coast. Tommy Simpson, of Oakland and a bunch of San Francisco promoters are in a competition to land a match between the welter champ and Jimmy Duffy (Hyman Gold) who is highly regarded out west.

It looks as though Simpson will get the fight and the westerners believe that Mickey will not find himself facing a setup. A couple of months ago Jack Britton went over to Oakland after an easy bit of change and picked on Duffy in a four round bout. All that saved the former welter champion was his head. He was knocked down twice in the four rounds, once for a count of eight. One of the things Jack has always done best has been to keep the resin off his fighting trunks and so Duffy performed quite a feat, even granting that Britton is not the fighter he was when Walker took his title away from him.

Bert Colima who is being shaped up to meet Walker in Jack Doyle's club in Los Angeles is no easy picking either. He came east some time ago with a great reputation and was expected to be a sensation here. But he ran up against Jack Delaney's killing right—as several better men have done—and promptly took a nap.

But in spite of that Colima is a tough bird, always active and on top of his man every minute. The fact that such a fighter is made to order for Delaney does not mean he will prove similarly easy prey for Walker.

There is a great demand for eastern and middle-western pugs out in the west by the fans who are tired of seeing familiar faces in the four round bouts that have been held. There has been too much stalling to please the patrons of the game.

Low Tandler is probably through. The knockout at the hands of Jack Zivic is the first Lefty Lew has sustained—at least the first recorded knockout. Back in 1919 in the Phillies park, though, Willie Jackson laid Low low with a clip that took a lot of strategy to prevent a knockout against him.

DYNAMITERS WIN PRACTICE GAMES

Heavies Beat Van Nuys; Lightweights Smother Franklin High

Casaba tossers on two Glendale High school teams showed unusual pep and accuracy in two practice games played yesterday afternoon at the Harvard High school gym, when the lightweights defeated Franklin High, 42 to 25, and the heavyweights beat Van Nuys, 25 to 15.

Van Nuys is considered the best heavyweight basketball team in the San Fernando valley team and is picked to win the pennant in that league this season. The valley shooters also hold a victory over Lincoln High, contenders for the title in the City league, defeating the Railsplitters, 42 to 20. Burbank also fell before the onslaughts of the Van Nuys team, 41 to 7.

In the heavyweight game the score stood six up at the first quarter, and 14 to 12, Glendale, at the half. In the final quarter the local heavyweights pulled away from Van Nuys, shooting baskets almost at will and from all parts of the court.

Lightweights Triumph
The lightweights run wild against Franklin High, the second team playing in the first half against the Printers and leading at the half, 14 to 12. In the second half the first string took the floor and from then on the outcome was never in doubt, the locals piling up 28 points while the Printers were getting 13.

Captain Archie Neel was the chief scoring machine for the locals, getting 12 points. Harrison was second in line with 10 points, while Axup accounted for 8 points in the first half. Collins, Griffith and Steffes shared honors for the Printers, each getting 6 points.

Thursday afternoon the class C and class B teams will journey to Monrovia, while the heavyweights will meet the Monrovia class C team here Friday afternoon. Each of the three Glendale teams has won one and lost one game this season in the Central league schedule. Class C won from Alhambra but lost to South Pasadena. Class B lost to Alhambra but won from South Pasadena. Class A lost to Alhambra but won from South Pasadena. The class B lineup yesterday was:

Franklin (25) Glendale (42)
Bus (2).....R.F. Axup (8)
Collins (6).....L.F. Smith
Griffith (6).....C. Sturgess (4)
Anderson (5).....R.G. Zaun (2)
Morgan.....L.G. June

Substitutions: Franklin: Lovell (6) for Axup; Harrison (10) for Neel (12) for Sturgess; Muff for Zaun; Alvord for June.

WEBB TO OPEN OFFICES IN NEW YORK

Head of Department Store
Returns After Buying
Trip Through East

Establishment of a New York office was announced today by H. S. Webb, on his return from a two-week eastern business trip. H. S. Webb & Co. has associated itself with one of the largest ready-to-wear chain stores in the middle west and east, Mr. Webb added, and Grover C. Gant has been placed in charge of this department in the main store at 139 North Brand boulevard.

Mr. Gant comes from the east and has had a wide experience in ready-to-wear merchandise, according to Mr. Webb. Under his supervision, with the purchasing power gained through the chain store association and the New York office, this department will be able to sell goods not only as cheap but cheaper than the Los Angeles stores, he said, and these goods will be of high quality, in large variety.

Mr. Webb greeted each employee personally on his return, a custom of years' standing, and one of the many that, say his friends, has enabled the human qualities of this well known Glendale merchant to impregnate the very fabric of his commercial success.

Leaving Glendale January 3, Mr. Webb stopped off in Chicago en route to New York, and again visited the Illinois metropolis on the return trip. Everywhere he found conditions good, particularly in the east, where he declared that the confidence of Wall street has had inspiring effect on business in general.

In the middle west, farmers are getting good prices for their crops, with the result that conditions are much improved, he said. Transcontinental lines are running three and more sections out of Chicago on all the main lines, according to Mr. Webb, whose prediction is that Southern California is getting a very big tourist travel this season.

"Business everywhere is good and getting better," said Mr. Webb. "The year just past was nothing to brag about generally, but people throughout the middle west and east are satisfied 1925 is going to be a good year. I am happy to state that H. S. Webb & Co. is one of the few department stores in Southern California that made substantial gains during 1924. I am confident we are going to do an excellent business this year and am laying my plans accordingly."

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, Jan. 27.—The proposed bonds for the Glendale Union High school district to be voted on February 10 were unanimously endorsed by the January meeting of the Tujunga Valley roundtable, composed of representatives of Tujunga and Sunland civic organizations. C. H. Conway of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce, presided at the meeting. The incorporation plans of Tujunga and Sunland, street improvement, zoning ordinances and the high school problem were subjects of discussion. It is stated that the unofficial sentiment of the meeting was strongly in favor of incorporation for the towns of Tujunga and Sunland.

Husbands and friends of members of the J. O. C. class of the Tujunga Community Methodist church will be entertained tonight at 7:30. The party will be given in the church basement and anyone eligible to the J. O. C. class or the men's class is invited by the members to attend. Officers in charge of departments of the class work gave their reports at the last meeting. Mesdames Jay and Lutz were hostesses and served refreshments.

"Financing the Schools" was the subject of a talk given by Mrs. B. B. Reynolds, clerk of the Tujunga school board, at the last meeting of the Tujunga Parent-Teacher association. The appropriation of state and county taxes and the method of making up the school budget at the beginning of each year were explained. The figures given show that the assessed valuation of the Tujunga school district for last year was $1,672,930.

Thursday was Reciprocity Day with the Tujunga Woman's club and a luncheon was served at noon to the many visitors who attended. Music was enjoyed during the afternoon.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Jan. 27.—Members of the local Chamber of Commerce have received copies of a circular letter sent out by Mrs. A. E. Reiter, secretary, calling attention to the following outstanding accomplishments of that body during the last year, and plans for 1925:

"Sufficient water supply to take care of all the needs. Increased transportation facilities. Additional mail service and collection. Zoning laws secured and enforced. Sewer in first section under construction. Engineering and survey work being rushed on other two sections. Printed beautiful descriptive folder of "Homeland." Printed map showing new street names. Arranged two community Christmas celebrations, planned Easter Sunrise service. Addition to Eagle Rock school costing $84,000. Served in solving all kinds of community problems. Secured local office of L. A. Gas & Electric Corp.

"These are just a few of the major accomplishments. We are now working on: Perfecting Credit Division. Securing two 12 room school buildings for east and west ends of town. High School building. Street lighting system involving thousands of dollars. Major highway projects. Zoning protection. Extension of transportation facilities. Establishment of Eagle Rock Borough."

The St. Barnabas Men's club will present a program at the Women's Twentieth Century clubhouse Friday night, January 30, it is announced. The members have been planning the program for some time, and they declare it will be one of the best affairs of the kind. There will be a number of "stunts," and good music is promised. The purpose of the entertainment is to raise funds for furnishing the new St. Barnabas Episcopal church, which was dedicated yesterday.

ALL OUT OF SORTS?

So Was This Glendale Woman Who Tells Her Experience.

All too often women accept their aches and pains as natural to their sex. They fail to realize that weak kidneys are often to blame for that backache, those headaches, dizzy spells and that tired, depressed feeling. Thousands have found new health and strength by helping the weakened kidneys with Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. This Glendale case is one of many:

Mrs. J. O. Bigham, 415 W. Stocker St., says: "There was a lameness through the small of my back and a continual soreness over my kidneys. When I stooped, sharp pains darted across my kidneys and these pains were worse when I did my housework. My kidneys didn't act right and I felt tired and all out of sorts. After using Doan's Pills, my kidneys were regulated and the backaches left me."

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Jan. 27.—The site offered by this city for the U. of S. Southern Branch, will be one of a very few sites to be given final consideration by the regents of the university. This was learned when Mrs. J. P. Sartori, one of the regents, visited Burbank to look over the site. She told R. O. Church she was much impressed and inferred that many of the sites offered are already out of the running, but that this site is receiving very serious consideration.

The owners of the new business block at the southeast corner of San Fernando boulevard and Tujunga avenue have changed the usual program in laying the cement walk in front of the building, by giving it a bright red hue.

Mrs. Florence Werminghaus of 610 Providencia avenue entered her Boston bull terrier called Bess IV in the exhibit of terriers at the Pacific Coast Boston Terrier club show, 945 West Seventh street, Los Angeles. Bess is an aristocratic dog of high pedigree and is expected to come back adorned with ribbons.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Herrington of 577 Santa Anita avenue entertained as recent guests Mrs. Harry Conwell and daughters, Ruth and Lucille, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Conwell's father, Mr. VanDeventer, of Topeka, Kansas, who is visiting his daughter here. The guests are former neighbors of the Herringtons.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Damico have returned from New York City and are living at 311 San Jose avenue. Mrs. Damico's mother, Mrs. W. M. Kelly, lives at 305 San Fernando boulevard. They have other relatives in various parts of the San Fernando valley, all of whom are joining in a welcome home of these well known local people.

Oldest Woman In West Dies At Age Of 105

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 27.—Mrs. Mary Bieler, who was burned in Dixon, fourteen miles west of Sacramento, at the age of 105 years and two months, is believed to have been the oldest white woman in the west at the time of her death.

Decedent was born in Switzerland in 1829 and crossed the plains with her husband in 1852, braving Indian attacks and other perils. She is survived by three children, Mrs. Borchard of San Francisco, Jacob Bieler of Nevada and Mrs. W. Baker of Sacramento, in addition to fourteen grandchildren, thirty great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren.

Dependents On County Denied Cash as Help

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 27.—Following investigations which indicate that money given indigents of the county is frequently expended for purposes other than maintenance or clothing, the Kern county Board of Supervisors today determined henceforth to issue groceries or wearing apparel instead of cash.

"Only when absolutely necessary will money be given," said Chairman James I. Waggy. "County funds for indigents are not given in the expectation that they will be used in the purchase of bootleg whisky or gasoline."

WELSH CHORUS PLEASES BIG AUDIENCE

Male Chorus Is Presented at
Broadway High School
By Kiwanis Club

The Broadway High school auditorium rang last night with the superb harmony of the Rhondra Welsh male singers, sixteen strong voices running the musical gamut from choral numbers to solos, and through duets, quartets, part songs and special numbers. The program was presented under the auspices of the Glendale Kiwanis club, by John Cosgrove, with Professor Tom Morgan as director, and Professor Emlyn Jones, A. R. C. M., accompanist. There was a large audience.

These sturdy vocalists swept the audience into a receptive mood with their initial number, that resonantly lovely war-song, "March of the Men of Harlech," an old Welsh air. They followed with another choral number, "Scottish Marching Song," by Dr. D. Protheroe.

After these two numbers the audience fully realized that what Chairman A. L. Baird of the Kiwanis entertainment committee had told them of the Rhondra Welsh male chorus, in his introduction of Professor Morgan, was an understatement of the facts, if anything. He had said:

"These renowned singers, now on their third annual tour of America, enjoy an international reputation as one of the greatest musical aggregations ever assembled."

David Rees, bass, gave an especially noteworthy number, "Hear Me Ye Winds and Waves," by Handel, following with "Miss Kitty O'Toole," by Dr. D. Protheroe. Sydney Charles, tenor, revealed a voice of fine quality in "My Dreams," by Tosti. The chorus filled in the interludes between the special numbers, other ensemble selections being "Mulligan Musketeers," by Atkinson, "Sleep, Dear One, Sleep," by Dr. T. Edwards, and the unique number, "On the Sea," by Dudley Buck.

Others of the Rhondra Welsh male chorus to give individual numbers were: W. Tudor Williams, Stephen Jenkins, Richard Robert and Jacob John, tenors; Robert Hopkins and Walter Evans, baritone; As final a solo, Hopkins, bass, sang "America," and the Welsh national anthem, "Hen Wlad Fy Nhadau" were sung by the chorus.

Parent-Teacher Clubs To Join Sing Concert

Parent-Teacher organizations of the Columbus, Grand View and Central Avenue schools are co-operating with Glendale Community Service in a program for next Thursday night, when the fourth Community Sing of the season will be held in the Central Avenue school, at 8 o'clock. "La Florida" (Venezuela Di Chara) will be sung by Mrs. Marie Se Logan, the first in Italian and the second in English. She will be accompanied by Mrs. E. J. Lunenschloss and Mrs. Eva Jenkins will whistle an obbligato for the second number. Mrs. Jenkins will also give a solo whistling number.

A second group of musical numbers will be given by A. Lowinsky, Glendale violinist and concert master of the Glendale Symphony orchestra. Mr. Lowinsky will play "Kot Kidder" (Max Bruch) and "Elegy" (Bazini) accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Lowinsky. The programs are open to the public. J. Arthur Myers, director of the Glendale Symphony orchestra, has charge. Mrs. Gertrude Champlain Erb is accompanist.

Pre-Natal Agreements Made Illegal By Court

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 27.—Pre-natal agreements between parents releasing the father from responsibility to support their offspring were declared illegal and void by the state supreme court when it denied the petition of Deputy Attorney-General J. Charles Jones for a rehearing of the case of Lloyd Swiggy of this city, who is alleged to have entered into such a contract with his wife.

"The mother of a child has no authority or power by agreement or release or waiver to deprive her child of its legal right to be supported and maintained by the father," said the court, "or to relieve the father from the corresponding obligation imposed upon him by law."

WATER DECISION SWEEPING

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 27.—A decision given by Superior Judge Freeman is of great importance to water rights affecting a large area in and near the Coachella valley. It denies to the Coachella valley water district a perpetual injunction to restrain Prescott T. Stevens of Palm Springs from diverting the flow of certain streams tributary to the Whitewater river. This river, although flowing underground most of its course, is the main source of supply for the Coachella valley wells. Besides denying the injunction the court sustained a demurrer filed by the defendant without leave to amend, so that the case now goes off the court calendar.

HEMET APRICOTS SHIPPED

HEMET, Jan. 27.—The second carload of dried apricots to have been shipped from Hemet to a San Francisco commission house. Prices are from 14 to 16 cents a pound, according to the grade of fruit. It is expected that another thirty tons will be shipped during this week.

'GIN' BOTTLES TAKEN

SANTA ANA, Jan. 27.—Two cases of new bottles, direct from the glass factory, with the name "London" embedded in the sides, scores of metal foil tops, new glass stoppers, tissue paper inscribed in ink that is not yet dry "Gordon's Gin, London" and almost a gross of wicker wrappers tell the story of trickery and sham used in the illicit liquor traffic in Orange county. A car was reported stripped and abandoned on the outskirts of Santa Ana. Officer J. M. Smith investigated, took the machine to the police station and discovered the bottles and other "foolers."

ORGANIZATION OF CITIES

SANTA ANA, Jan. 27.—Organization of the communities along the Pacific Electric tracks between Santa Ana and Watts into an association is proposed to work out plans for the institution of a new highway between Santa Ana and Los Angeles, it has been announced by T. E. Pickrell, secretary of the Garden Grove chamber of Commerce.

STUDENTS GIVEN 'CLEANING'

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 27.—Residents of Carpinteria have become concerned over the establishment of a scrubbing system in connection with the special school for foreign children in the valleys. According to a Carpinteria resident who has appealed to legal authority, a school teacher was provided with the necessary equipment out of school funds and spent an afternoon "cleaning up" a number of children, who, it was said, needed attention. The objection, according to reports, is not to keeping the children clean but to requiring the district school authorities to do the work and furnish the necessities.

RAINFALL PREDICTED

SANTA MARIA, Jan. 27.—According to a weather bureau tabulation made by L. E. Blochman, a recognized weather prognosticator, Santa Barbara has had many seasons since 1859 when little rain fell before February 1, and still enough fell after that date to insure good crops and a good season. He predicts enough rainfall during this season to insure good crops.

Exhibit Gland Treatment in London

A remarkable treatment was exhibited at the Annual Chemists' Exhibition in London, where it was reported that "the compound rejuvenated old men in a startling manner and that under-developed children thrived on it like withering plants put out in the rain."

Scientists of international prominence disclose that the vital glands of young animals often have a remarkable effect in renewing vitality, toning up the entire system, and building nerve forces. Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, prepared in tablet form provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen, for men and women, is obtainable at Ahlman Drug Co., Brand at Harvard. Free booklets on request.—Advertisement.
